GLOBAL CURRICULUM IN COMPLEX LEGAL ISSUES

The LLM program at ONU is the only one of its kind among U.S. law schools; it offers a comprehensive curriculum in comparative, international, and rule of law-based coursework. Combined with field experience and intensive weekend and January courses, graduates are well-prepared to face a variety of complex issues in their development careers. Faculty, with decades of combined experience working in rule of law promotion, teach classes covering both theory and practice. Your classmates include LLM students from around the world who are lawyers themselves and have professional experience performing public service in countries facing rule of law challenges.
